ABC's Harris Blows Whistle On Cypress West Liquor License

There will be, apparently, a limit to the number of bars in Carmel. To no one's particular distress, a point of numerical saturation has evidently been reached; or such is the tentative conclusion of Mr. Malcolm Harris, director of the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, who has blown the whistle on hearing officer Ivones Daines's recommended decision in the application of Cypress West hotel for an on-sale beverage license.

Daines has submitted to the department a recommendation that the protest of the City of Carmel be overruled and the license granted. Harris has rejected the recommendation of the hearing officer and called for a review of the transcript of the hearing, which was conducted in the city hall. An executive committee within the department will review the transcript, which will require some sixty days to prepare and examine.

Harris has made no bones about his questioning of the hearing. "The decision of the hearing officer declares that the license will not be situated in the vicinity of a church, (the Church of the Wayfarer, at Lincoln and Seventh, across the street from Cypress West,) but later on, testimony discloses that a distance of only 96 feet separates the two premises." Harris, it seems, is not oblivious to inconsistencies.

"I want to be particularly careful," he continues, displaying a surprisingly compassionate insight into Carmel's dilemma, "not to upset the traditions, the culture and the careful planning of the community. I want to prevent the saturation or congestion of Carmel with too many licenses."

"We are, frankly, skirting the local option problem rather narrowly. But Carmel is a different kind of a community, well-planned, carefully but reasonably regulated. We don't want to see harm done to this situation."

Harris's problem is not an easy one. As distasteful as many of the manifestations of the alcoholic beverage industry may be, it is yet a legitimate business, protected and regulated by the duly enacted laws of the state, and local option is one choice which the laws have precluded, preferring the consistency of state regulation to the impetuous and frequently prejudiced inclinations of local jurisdictions.

Paradoxically, the Church of the Wayfarer is not a party to the protest, though it is the body which instigated the city's protest. A failure to file their protest in timely fashion has ruled them out of the scene, though City Attorney John Morse tried during the hearings to enter their opposition.

Nonetheless, the church-bar conflict infects the whole proceedings, whether as excuse or as genuine repulsion is immaterial. The one basic fact burns through: the department, burdened with its statutory responsibility and yet not oblivious to the consequences of cold and authoritative interpretation of its duties, is determined to see a different sort of justice done, not the sort that laws can always comprehend, but that common sense usually does.

City Attorney Morse has until 15 October to file a reply to the recommended decision of the hearing officer. He intends to do so, hammering hard at the points which annoyed him during the hearing: the late filing of the ap-

Salvation Army Out Of Chest Drive

The Salvation Army, no longer supported by the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest, on Monday opened a two-weeks special gifts campaign in this area. Goal of this fund drive is $15,000.

Following negotiations which lasted nine months, the Salvation Army, in July, withdrew as a budget-participating member of the local Community Chest when the latter organization set $6,000 as the Salvation Army's 1963 budget allocation. The Salvation Army considered this sum insufficient for minimum financial needs to underwrite its local services.

Mrs. Robert E. Newton, president of the Community Chest, yesterday stated the Chest budget committee set the $6,000 allocation because information submitted by the Salvation Army did not sufficiently make clear how much of the $15,841 it requested from the Chest would be used locally.

Withdrawal of the Salvation Army, she added, means "99 percent of the funds raised in this fall's campaign will be spent locally."

In January of this year, the Salvation Army was informed that the Community Chest's $10,500 pre-campaign allocation for the Army for 1962 had been reduced to $1,000, according to Gene V. Crump, Salvation Army representative for this area, who states, "this drastic cut in allocation placed on the Salvation Army three-fourths of the financial responsibility for the 1961 campaign failure of the Chest."

In March, the Army advised Mrs. Newton, newly-elected Chest president, and all Chest board members that the reduction in

Plancom All Gassed Up

A committee to study establishment of an overlay zone in which gas stations could operate legally, also be within the business district's central retail zone and surrounding retail, limited services, motel and hotel zone, was appointed Tuesday afternoon by Planning Commission chairman Fred Keeble.

This committee, consisting of Commissioners Florence Josselyn, J. B. Martin, Jr., and Hugh Smith, chairman, will report on its study to the commission on 17 October.

The decision on super-imposed zoning came after spot zoning was abandoned as a means of legalizing Carmel's nine non-conforming service stations in the above-mentioned C-1-C and C-1-S zones on the advice of City Attorney John Morse. He warned commissioners that spot zoning was discriminatory, also that property once so zoned was "zoned forever."

He did, however, offer encour-

An Adventure In Neighborliness

Through the door of a small, redwood cottage on Lincoln Street south of Eighth Avenue, 800 persons over 50 years of age may pass during a single week, all entering to take part in the varied activities at Town House, a service club maintained by the Carmel Foundation. The same week, almost another hundred persons may receive help with situations in their homes from Mrs. Ruth Sarett, executive director of Carmel's independent and unique organization for senior citizens which has as its slogan An Adventure in Neighborliness.

This adventure began in 1950 when a group of far-sighted residents, led by the late Mrs. Sidney A. Trevett, brought about the incorporation of Carmel Foundation.

Many community services at Town House are, by their very nature, local branches of national organizations, built upon patterns found effective in other cities and established here to meet similar needs. Despite this, however, Carmel Foundation Town House is indigenous to this community.

All activities conform to the unique character of Carmel and its residents. This conformity is ideally exemplified by Town House itself, an early Carmel-type building nestled unobtrusively under pine trees and giving no indication of the unusual benefits gained by walking up the garden path.

This building was purchased in 1952 and ever since has been a hospitable and typical meeting place for groups of Carmel people. Weekly meetings at Town House are followed by tea. Craft classes, studio painting, cards, foreign language conversation groups, monthly art exhibits, also monthly luncheons, keep Town House one of Carmel's busiest centers during all of its open hours, which are every weekday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners are also served to members.

At Town House, Mrs. Ruth Sarett's office door is always open and anyone who enters is sure to find

Council Does Not Horse Around With Motel Tax

The Trojan horse clomped into the council chambers last night and found anything but an Augean stable. Instead, a group of local innkeepers, who had rammed a partisan resolution through a bemused Business Association meeting last month, asking the revision of the hostelry tax, which has been in effect since last Monday, were confronted with a hospitable but resolute council.

Council Conflict Over Sand Dunes And Parking

Not since the four-hour epic El Cid was first shown has an audience sat through a more tedious but earnest performance than last night's city council meeting. In spite of good direction, a hard-working and serious cast and a flamboyant script, the drama, which was not without its grave and momentous problems, was more than should have been crammed into one night's audition.

The first contretemps arose when Mr. William Crawford sought to persuade the council to permit him to move some sand around on the dunes at the north end of the beach, adjoining his property.

It produced a showing of color slides, colored emotions and a threat from Councilman Francis Whitaker, after the council voted 4-1 to permit Crawford to move the sand, to seek an injunction to prohibit the action. Whitaker was seeking to prevent destruction of the natural dune conditions, including an expanse of wild verbena which he showed to the council via

The matter was broached with a council administrative committee report recommending that no petition for reconsideration be entertained, and that the law be given time to demonstrate imperfections and inequalities—if any—before a review was undertaken.

Councilman James Buffington, Jr., trying to make his point, asked that a specific date for review be determined. Before voting on the amendment proposed by Buffington, the council heard a protest from A. Roland Martin, president of the motel owners' group that "in only two days since the tax has been in effect, already some of our members are hurting. This thing is now altogether different, because Monterey is out of the picture." Monterey, in this context, had knocked from its agenda any present consideration of a similar tax, leaving Carmel the sole authority imposing a surtax on hostelry lodging charges.

Motel owners produced Mr. Fred Feyton, executive vice president of the California Motel Owners Association, who made an impassioned and not altogether ingenuous argument for revision. He kept citing the experience of places like San Francisco and Bakersfield in the application and effect of the tax, while simultaneously

Sport Cars

SPORTS CARS

Up in Seattle there is a sports car racetrack at Kent, called Pacific Raceways. It deserves a few words. Mr. Ben Jones, a reserve captain for an airline, and Tom Hamilton, his father-in-law, I believe, went about five miles east of the little town of Kent and bought about 175 acres of beautiful forest land at the edge of a bluff overlooking the pass thru which the inland-bound trains climb out of Seattle-Tacoma.

You turn east about three miles this side of the Seattle-Tacoma International airport and wind your way to the track, the entrance being rather exciting as you drive through it. You are dead center of the long thin piece of land and you may go either right or left to the ends of the track, or you can cross the main straightaway and you are inside the course.

At either end of the property the track swings suddenly down off the bluff and winds around the bottom of the ravine, under your full and complete vision from the graded banks. 20,000 people sat there last Saturday and Sunday and watched the first Northwest Grand Prix for Sports Cars.

They saw everything, had easy access to proper concession facilities, (hot foods, too), proper lavatories, unlimited scenery topped by majestic snow-capped Mt. Rainier, shade or shelter under the trees, complete lawn, smooth, graded areas, and acres of smoothed-out sand upon which to spread robes, etc. It was a good show!

The most complete management control exists at P. I. R., with announcer Tom Bell directing things over a P.A. system that covers every remote corner. The races start on time, even at local amateur events, insured by a contract in which the management fines the S.C.C.A. so many dollars per minute of delay. That works, of course!

Crowd control is efficient, nobody is allowed in front of the fences; even the photographers with their passes could not stay in front of the fences. The pits are fenced and nobody crashes the area. There are ambulances on the start line, and also down below in the "esses." To facilitate fast service, a small ambulance airplane has a place at the end of the long 100-ft. wide straight stretch for quick trips to the hospital, if necessary. (It wasn't.)

The entire installation is just fine. The track is safe, fast and a treat to drive upon; and best of all, the weather cleared up on Saturday.

TV Golf Series Stymied 1st Day

The Arnold Palmer show, a TV golf series, which was to have had a two-day filming last week of a match between the teams of Arnold Palmer and Gary Player against Ken Venturi and Byron Nelson, over the Pebble Beach and Country Club courses, folded up after the first day's shooting when arrangements for the Country Club course became snagged.

The club board of directors asked for a $1,000 fee to tie up the course for the day. The producers declined to go much over $500, because of the precedent problems it posed when negotiating for other courses. And so, the film, the crew, the golf clubs and the players were quietly packaged and returned to Los Angeles.

Jim Mustard, golf chairman of the club board, said that tournaments and projects such as the Palmer show, pose problems. "The course is very popular, and this was a money-making proposition for the producers. We felt the fee was not unreasonable. Besides, we didn't much want them, in the first place."

The first day's match, over Pebble Beach, will probably be screened in January, at which time viewers will watch Venturi and Nelson defeat Player and Palmer 3 and 2.

JV'S SMASH SPARTANS 40-12

Looking great from the first down on, the Junior Varsity team last Friday smashed the Gonzales JV's 40-12. Outstanding was FB Ralph Juarez, who scored three touchdowns, one a 73-yard run, the next a 44-yard effort, and finally a 25-yard jaunt, making him a hero for a day.

Bob Holmes also scored, by way of a 40-yard run. John Tolan, HB, ran one for 20 yards and HB Jay Lang ran for a 65-yard touchdown, which was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Enborg Halle made the sole pass-receiving touchdown, accepting one from QB Mosolf. Extra points were made by Lang, on a run, Tolan, also on a run, Steve Johnson, on a flat pass, and Halle, on a flat pass.

Outstanding blocking was provided by the offensive linemen Johnson, Halle, Claude Dechow, Jim Amos, Tom Poulos, Bob Steliga, and Fred Ghering. Halfbacks Lang and Tolan also provided good offensive blocking.

On defense, one figure stood out from the rest—Bob Steliga.

Tomorrow—activity schedule for rally (Let's show some spirit for a change!)

Saturday Night—Carnival dance. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

CARMEL BEATS GONZALES (BARELY)

Playing a night game against the Gonzales Spartans on their own field, the CHS Padres last Friday squeaked by with a score of 7-0. Phil Zobel took the kickoff and ran the ball 85 yards to the Gonzales ten yard line. Then HB Dennis Hermanson took the ball and stepped over the goal, giving us a 6-0 lead. Grant Pollock kicked the pigskin neatly between the posts for the extra point. This remained the final score, with neither team thereafter being able to break through the other's defense.

As a defensive team, ours really sparkled, particularly linemen Dave Harris, Jim Kelley, John Whittaker, Ken Friddle, Bart Whelan, and Clayton Hilbert. Backing them up were linebackers Jim Markowitz and Dave Preve and halfbacks Phil Zobel and Dennis Clark. If all these failed—which didn't happen too often—there was always safety man Gary Mumford to contend with.

On the offensive squad, exceptional running was shown by Hermanson and John Thomas.

The final statistics on the game were, for Carmel: 100 yards rushing, 6 first downs, 10 yards from passes, one out of four passes completed, 40 yards against us in penalties and two fumbles, neither of which were recovered.

For Gonzales: 25 yards rushing, 4 first downs, 20 yards from passes, two out of six passes completed, with one interception (a beautiful almost superhuman effort by Dennis Clark), 70 penalty yards, and one fumble which they managed to recover.

Neighborhood Adventure

(Continued from Page One) the personal, understanding help sought in time of perplexity or trouble. Mrs. Sarett also makes home calls when they seem the best way to help with a situation.

In the Carmel Foundation brochure, her home service work is described as follows:

"The services include confidential discussions of personal and family problems, the referral of carefully chosen housekeepers, nurses, companions, other helpers, a daily check on persons living alone who wish this, and information about community resources. No charge is made for the services of the Foundation, but the recipients of such services pay any helpers they employ at the usual wage rate.

"People quite rightly hesitate to call upon friends and neighbors beyond a certain point, and yet do not know how or where to turn for the assistance they need. At the Foundation, there is always one whose privilege it is to be a good neighbor."

Among Town House services is a Meals on Wheels project which delivers hot food in the middle of the day to home-bound persons. This gives "a lift over a rough spot" to many who live alone.

Once a month, Town House members, in chartered buses, take trips known as Monterey Peninsula Senior Tours; the longest to the Seattle World's Fair; the shortest to Big Sur for a picnic. The tours are geared to participants' interests, energy and purses, and are planned on a non-profit basis.

The Greyhound bus company has a slogan for this activity — Grandma Is Off Her Rocker. One traveler from Carmel remarked, on the first seniors' trip to Sunset Gardens in Menlo Park, that until the tour she had not been out of Carmel for five years.

The Carmel Adult School conducts classes at Town House. One of these provides instruction in lip reading.

The word "foundation" leads some persons, who are not familiar with Carmel Foundation, to think that financial backing is a large endowment. Nothing could be more erroneous. The Foundation's purpose is firmly stated on the cover page of the Town House brochure. It is "to serve senior men and women in our community . . . by maintaining Town House as a center for interesting programs and activities . . . by expanding in directions indicated by greatest needs as funds become available."

Carmel Foundation depends, for its operating expenses, entirely on voluntary yearly donations of no stipulated amount. All donors automatically become members entitled to vote at the board of directors' annual meeting when yearly reports on all phases of Town House operations are presented. Service organizations in the community also generously help to keep Town House going.

Any person over 50 years of age is welcome to enter the door of the cozy redwood cottage on Lincoln Street. Comfortable chairs in the living room invite entrants to sit and chat or read current magazines and newspapers placed nearby. Just off this room is Mrs. Sarett's office. An art studio is situated in a remodeled garage. There is a shuffleboard court in the garden. Other facilities in the cottage are a meeting room with a grand piano, a weaving room which doubles as a library, a kitchen where luncheons and teas are prepared. The back hall houses a jewelry kiln.

The Carmel Foundation slogan, An Adventure In Neighborhood, sums up everything. Town House door is open to every neighbor in this community who wishes to discover the adventure of living in Carmel with other persons over 50 years of age; to become a member of Carmel's senior service club.

"From the time of its inception in 1950, Carmel Foundation has received the benefits of guidance and inspiration from some of the community's finest senior citizens," is the statement of Dr. Robert P. Parsons, president of Carmel Foundation this year.

Salvation Army Out Of Chest Drive

(Continued from Page One) Army's allocation was unwarranted and not justified, also, that because of its arbitrary nature, the token allocation of $1,000 would not be accepted.

In June, at another meeting of representatives of the two organizations, the Salvation Army asked what provision the Chest might make for restoring the 1962 pre-campaign allocation of $10,500. Chest representatives said that no provision could be made since all funds were already distributed.

Later, the Salvation Army applied to the Chest for a 1963 allocation of $15,841, and was advised that its share of funds raised by the Chest campaign this fall would be $6,000 for 1963.

In July, the Salvation Army withdrew as a budget-participating Chest agency stating that it was "regrettable that such action is necessary, but due to the Community Chest's failure to meet even the minimum financial needs of the Salvation Army on the Monterey Peninsula, we do not have any alternative.

Last year, over 500 individuals in trouble were assisted by The Salvation Army Service Extension Committees of Monterey, Carmel, Pacific Grove and Seaside. In addition, over 1,600 Christmas and Thanksgiving gifts were distributed to families and individuals.

Other essential Salvation Army services available to Monterey Peninsula citizens include the three California Booth Memorial hospitals for unmarried mothers, summer camps for children of low-income families, emergency disaster relief, aids to prisoners and their families, and alcoholic rehabilitation centers, a Salvation Army release states.

The Salvation Army hopes, in its current campaign, to raise sufficient funds from this area to support the above services.

Members of the Carmel Salvation Army Service Extension Unit include Fire Chief Robert E. Smith, acting chairman, and Mrs. Mary L. Clayton, welfare secretary.

Puppet Theatre Site Selected

On its tour of inspection last Tuesday the city council approved a site at the Forest Theater recently proposed by the arts commission for a puppet theatre. The project to construct a small stage especially designed for puppetry has been pending in the arts commission for some time. Now, with council approval of the area just south of the entrance to the theatre-in-the-ground, plans and financing can be detailed.

The council was especially pleased with the fact that the project can be undertaken without requiring the removal of any trees, or any consequential disturbance of the natural features of the grounds.

Agree Play Next At Circle

A striking parallel exists between All The Way Home, the Tad Mosel drama which will open at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre next week, and Ketti Frings' Look Homeward, Angel, the major hit of the Circle's 1961 season. Both works were adapted from autobiographical novels by Southern authors—Thomas Wolfe in the latter case, James Agree in the former.

Agree's posthumous book, A Death In The Family, which won the Pulitzer Prize for fiction in 1958, concerns his sprawling Tennessee mountain family as seen through the eyes of a sensitive six-year-old. It is set in and around Knoxville in 1915, less than 100 miles and one year from the scene of Look Homeward, Angel—Asheville, North Carolina, in 1916.

Even more indicative of the similarity is the fact that these two dramas were recipients of both the New York Critics' Circle Award and the Pulitzer Prize in their respective years.

Circle director Frederick Rider and designer Ruth Allan, who collaborated on Wolfe two seasons ago, are again pooling their talents to give All The Way Home an evocative production.

FILMS AT MPC

A 1928 Charles Chaplin comedy, The Circus, and a French film, Zero de Conduite, about conflicts between freedom and authority in a boys' school, will be shown at Monterey Peninsula College 12 October. Admission is free, but tickets must be acquired at the college before 5 p.m. on the day of the showing.

PENINSULA CHILDREN'S ART IN INTERNATIONAL SHOW

Last May an art festival featuring the work of the school children of the Monterey Peninsula was held at the fairgrounds under the sponsorship of the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts. At that time a selection was made by the International Children's Art Center of San Francisco. Some of these paintings by our young artists have recently been shown, with much favorable comment, at the San Francisco Art Festival. Others will be on view at the new I.C.A.C. Galleries at H. Liebes in San Francisco, 15 October through 15 November. A final group will be exhibited this Fall in London, England.

The Artists Guild of America is showing paintings by Clifford Reynolds on the mezzanine gallery and a group show of 27 artists' work on the main floor.

Mr. Reynolds, a Berkeley resident, has developed a style and mood of his own in his paintings, collages and assemblages. In their simplicity and spatial arrangements, they arouse subtle emotions and hidden memories, yet do not make a fixed statement, according to the gallery's brochure.

ART ASSOCIATION

A new show of the work of members of the Carmel Art Association opened yesterday in the non-profit group's galleries on Dolores Street. Charles Thomas was chairman of the hanging committee for this Fall show.

The association's board of directors will meet Monday evening at 7:00 p.m. in the gallery.

ATAIDE EXHIBITION

A one-man show of paintings by Joe Ataide, Peninsula artist, opened yesterday in an exhibition room at the Carmel Art Association Gallery.

LAKY GALLERIES

A collection of primitive art from the West Baffin Eskimo Co-operative at Cape Dorset, Canada, will open Saturday in the Laky Galleries on San Carlos Street and remain on display until 21 October.

Included in the show will be stone cuts and seal skin prints. The latter have aroused international interest in the culture of the Eskimos of the Canadian Arctic. Many museums have added them to their permanent collections. Private collectors, too, have acquired seal skin prints. These examples of the art expression of a primitive people interpret Eskimo mores, legends and humor in vigorous and unique styles.

JEFFERS MEMORIAL

The September issue of Ramparts, the national Catholic journal published by The Layman's Press in Menlo Park, contains a memorial to Robinson Jeffers. Excerpts from the late Carmel poet's work are illustrated with photographs by the late Edward Weston of Carmel Highlands and his son, Brett Weston, a local resident. The photographic reproductions are of scenery in this area.

WATERCOLOR INSTRUCTION

A watercolor section for beginning and advanced students is being formed in the Carmel Adult School drawing and painting class at Carmel High School.

Students interested in drawing and oil painting may still enroll in the same class, instructed by C. Y. Lee, who received his M.A. degree in art from the University of California.

Both sections meet in Room 4 at the high school on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7:30 - 10 p.m.

More detailed information may be obtained by telephoning EX 4-2965 or MA 4-1821.

TALK ON MODERN ART

Monday evening at 8 p.m., Carmel artist Ben Bishop will give the second of three lectures on modern art in the library lecture hall at Monterey Peninsula College. There will be no charge for admission.

REJTO CONCERT NEXT WEEK

Gabor Rejto, famed pupil of Pablo Casals, will open the concert series of the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association at the Junior High School Auditorium, Pacific Grove, 8:15 p.m. next Wednesday.

Mr. Rejto, a native of Budapest, is head of the string department of the University of California. After an extensive European concert career, appearing as solo cellist with leading orchestras of Vienna, Budapest, Warsaw, Rome and the Radio Symphony of the Netherlands, he came to the United States in 1939 with the Lenner Quartet. He has been a member of the renowned Alma Trio since its organization. From 1949 to 1954, Mr. Rejto was head of the cello and chamber music department of the Eastman School of Music.

Admission to the concert is limited to members of the association. Members of other prepaid concert associations may be admitted on a space available basis upon presentation of their membership cards.

MARIE GIBSON CONCERT

Leading Bach Festival soloist, soprano Marie Gibson, will give a concert at Monterey Peninsula College on 19 October in the music hall on the campus. The event will be open to the public without charge.

Where There's Life

By Andre Hope

Heavens to Lucius Beebe! They have gone and done it again—and the minute his back was turned, too! They are trying to discontinue the run of the Del Monte Special. If any of you are not acquainted with the Del Monte, it is a commute train that has made the trip between Monterey and San Francisco since the early part of this century, and is to Peninsular travel what alpaca lap robes are to chilly stadiums; silver coolers to chilled champagne, and hot-house red roses to cold winter nights; one of the better things of life, for which I beat a tender timpani.

If you will remember, I have written in praise of this charming little train before; particularly of the joys and pleasures of the parlor car so deftly cared for by veteran Eddie Elkins. Even though the hour of departure is early, you find yourself snugly ensconced reading your favorite morning paper with a fresh cup of coffee immediately served while your orange juice is being freshly squeezed. After a light breakfast repast, should you choose to have one, you swing along through some of the country's finest scenery while you prepare yourself for a day in the city or catch up on some neglected bit of reading.

Eddie knows all of his customers and arranges seating so that old friends will be in position for a visit. Recently he introduced a retired colonel of long Monterey residence to a newly arrived officer of the same rank. They were both fascinated with a new audience for their reminiscences. You arrive in the city proper feeling even better than when you left home, pampered and ready for the pleasures of pleasure or business transactions.

Your evening return is smoothly engineered in like fashion. Just imagine your favorite cocktail lounge or snack corner on wheels without the necessity of having to leave it to dash for a bus or train! Nice? Enough so, I think, for you not only to write the Southern Pacific Railroad and the Public Utilities Commission, San Francisco, in protest, but to ride! Much as I disfavor slogans, two are offered here. "Don't Just Write — Ride!" and make this Eddie Elkins month — "Take the Del Monte to Lunch in San Francisco!"

"Could it have been at the Pine Inn?"

For those of us who cannot operate a motor car or refer privately to the buslines as the "Muscate Mainlines," and view an airline ticket with the same enthusiasm as a written reminder of a dental appointment, the Del Monte has got to stay, or it's walk up the tracks with a pinseal rucksack.

Please, Mr. Beebe, firm believer in the necessity of nuptials between tradition and travel accommodations, button on your latest suit of London tailored armor, borrow a plume from some worthy Cyrano of your acquaintance to affix to your opera hat, leap on your iron horse and come to rescue our damsel in distress (more of a grande dame, really). "But, cheerio my dearie-o, there's a dance in the Old Dame yet!"

Letters To The Editor

SAND CASTLES

Dear Sir:

We were surprised and pleased to see our sand castle on the front of this week's Pine Cone. Especially pleased we were to have a picture of the girls with the castle. We had kicked ourselves for having left our camera, which was loaded and ready, at home!

Sincere thanks,
Fred G. Pomeroy.

Dear Sir:

Thank you for a lovely day, last Sunday on the beach. The children and their parents, the artist with his fine form and free mountain of sand, the sparkle of the sea and the eager eye. I thought, it never ends — life, love, interests, the beauty around—if one only reaches out his hand . . . finding stones, driftwood, the sea patterns, shining, lush, shimmering; and the glassy golden amber seaweed-mermaids, monsters or miracles — we had, thanks to you.

Oh, what a beautiful day!

do you think you can have a sand castle contest without me as a judge or professional adviser or something?

Every body knows 'cept maybe Charlie Brown, that I'm the worlds best know-it-all about sand castles. Even my crazy little brother knows I'm the biggest connasseur of castle construction in California, and if he tells you any different I'll slug him!

I HOPE ALL YOUR CASTLES FALL DOWN YOU STUPID BLOCKHEAD!

Lucy.

(Editor's comment: Turn blue, dear.)

BIRCH SOCIETY

Dear Sir:

I was very interested in your editorial of Thursday, September 20, 1962, pertaining to your views of the John Birch Society. However, it sounded more like the wailings of a spoiled child denied his candy by the "candy man."

George Larsen.

(Editor's comment: I don't eat candy.)

POINT OF ORDER

Dear Sir:

According to Webster, British style is 25 September, 1962. Such affectations are annoying in The Pine Cone.

A Patriot.

Dear Patriot: Ever hear of the 4th of July? Or do you celebrate July 4th?

Reasons, not anglophilia, inspire this style for the Pine Cone. We drop the suffix, "th," and "of" to economize on space. Furthermore, day, week and month is a generally accepted progression, Webster notwithstanding.

Those, at least, are two good reasons why we do it. Can you give me good reasons two why we shouldn't?

Respectfully,
Linus.

The Sur Coast

By Elizabeth Fuller Jones

That majestic landmark on the south coast, Point Sur, which is the location of the Point Sur Light Station maintained by the United States Coast Guard, is open to visitors each afternoon — weekdays from 1 to 3 p.m., Sundays and holidays from 1 to 4 p.m. One and one-half to two hours should be allowed for a tour, and children must be accompanied by adults at all times. From the parking area, there is a quarter-mile walk up a steep grade to the station.

The festival of baroque music continues at Nepenthe in Big Sur, with a harpsichord recital next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. by Margaret Fabrizio. Included in the musical program will be three preludes and Fugue by Bach, Passacaille by Couperin and sonatas of Scarlatti.

A dozen miles south of Carmel, then one and seven-tenths miles up redwood-filled Palo Colorado Canyon, is the Bell Fuschia Garden where over 200 varieties of fuchsias are now nearing the end of the blooming season. The gardens are open daily, except Thursday, until 14 October when they will close until June of next year. During the winter months, the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bell, plan many improvements in the garden's surroundings before opening in the Spring.

The Individual and Cultural Definitions of Rationality, led by Joe Adams, psychologist, of Palo Alto and Gregory Bateson, ethnologist of the Veterans' Administration Hospital, Palo Alto, will be the subject of the second in a series of seminars being conducted 6 and 7 October at Big Sur Hot Springs Lodge, 15 miles south of Pfeiffer State Park on Highway One.

Last Saturday night more than 40 people gathered at the Lodge for an oriental evening with authentic Japanese cuisine and geisha dancers. East Indian dancer, Ishvani, will entertain during an invitational dinner and dance program on 15 October.

Every Wednesday from 8:30 to 11:00 is square dancing night at the Big Sur Grange Hall. The public is invited to join in the fun. The charge, $1.50 for two. The caller, Archie Fleming.

Carl Sandburg Talks At MPC This Month

Carl Sandburg will be the second speaker for the Monterey Peninsula College evening lecture series. The 84-year-old poet, bard and biographer of Lincoln will present An Evening With Sandburg on 24 October at 8 p.m. in the Armory on the campus.

The cottage in Illinois where Sandburg was born has already been dedicated as a literary shrine.

The MPC lectures are open to the public free of charge.

make his permanent home here. He reluctantly talks about his books, and appears much more enthusiastic to discuss research discoveries he has made . . . such as the polite and good-natured attitudes cannibals maintain in their social relationships.

Outstanding, he says, are references to the social politeness and good nature of cannibals in the writing of many persons who have been closely associated with cannibalistic peoples.

His research did not disclose whether or not cannibalism promotes or prevents mental illness, he said in answer to a question. He believes cannibals have the same incidence of mental illness as all other peoples on a similar cultural level.

Dr. Berne, for some years, has been studying the incidence of mental illness in less-advanced cultures. In South Pacific countries, he discovered the ratio of the hospitalized mentally ill to the total population to be one out of every one thousand persons.

He has just returned from Central America where he lectured in Costa Rica on group therapy treatment at the national mental hospital in San Jose.

"Costa Rica is by far the most truly democratic country in Central America," Dr. Berne declares. He was most impressed with the alert, intelligent young psychiatrists he met at this country's hospital for the mentally ill, also with the competence and devotion to his work displayed by the hospital's superintendent.

"They are eager to hear more about group therapy," he says and adds that, in addition to this treatment, these physicians use shock therapy, drugs and psychotherapy. The ratio of hospitalized mental patients to the total population is the same in Costa Rica as in the South Pacific, he stresses, and adds "as I expected."

In 1947, Dr. Berne published The Mind In Action. This popular book was later re-issued as an "expensive" paperback under the title of A Layman's Guide to Psychiatry and Psychoanalysis. It was translated into several foreign languages and also sold well abroad. Now it has been re-issued again in a paperback edition that is "less expensive" than the previous soft-cover printing.

"Ask to see the cover," Dr. Berne advises other Carmel writers who may have books published in the latter category. He was startled with the "cover girl" when he received his first copy. Objection availed nought. His publishers told him the four-color covers were too valuable to be discarded.

Dr. Berne first came to Carmel during World War II when he was an officer stationed at Fort Ord with the U.S. Army Medical Corps. Following the war he decided to Literature . . .

Cannibals Not 'Bad Guys', Carmel Author Discovers

Cannibals are polite and good-natured when met socially, according to Dr. Eric Berne, Carmel psychiatrist and author.

Shortly, a symposium on the cultural aspects of mental illness will be published. Dr. Berne was asked to write the introductory chapter for this work and subsequent research led him to the above conclusion.

Outstanding, he says, are references to the social politeness and good nature of cannibals in the writing of many persons who have been closely associated with cannibalistic peoples.

You can find your way back to health if you will prayerfully follow the instructions contained in Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. In this great book you will find a full explanation of the method of Christian Science healing.

Christian Science holds unwaveringly to the truth in the first chapter of Genesis that "God saw every thing that He had made, and, behold, it was very good." Thus Christian Science restores the invalid to health.

Science and Health may be read or examined, together with the Bible, at any Christian Science Reading Room. Or it may be purchased at $3.

WORLD AFFAIRS COUNCIL

The World Affairs Council, in co-operation with the Carmel Adult School, will present the second in its series of open meetings dealing with The British Empire in the Carmel High School cafeteria tomorrow at 8 p.m. The topic, The United Kingdom and the Old Dominions, will be discussed by Dr. Leslie Lipson, professor of political science at the University of California at Berkeley.

British-born, with a M.A. from Oxford University, Dr. Lipson is a naturalized United States citizen, received his Ph. D. degree from the University of Chicago, and has held professorships at Victoria College, the University of New Zealand, Swarthmore College, and, since 1950, the University of California at Berkeley.

A grant from the Rockefeller Foundation took him to the United Kingdom, Switzerland, Scandinavia and Europe from 1955 to 1961. In 1953 he served the United Nations in Rio de Janeiro under the technical assistance administration. Dr. Lipson has also been a visiting professor at Columbia, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Hawaii universities, has written numerous articles in scientific journals, also for the Encyclopedia Britannica. Last year he was a guest speaker for the World Affairs Council and the Naval Postgraduate School.

TOWN HOUSE PROGRAMS

Holiday for Bands, narrated by James Stewart, and Dream Trip to Denmark will be the two movies to be shown by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie C. Deck at the regular Wednesday afternoon meeting at Town House next week starting at 3:00 o'clock.

On Monday, after the regular luncheon, pictures of Hawaiian trips taken by Palo Alto seniors will be shown at 2 p.m. All interested in plans for future Monterey Peninsula Senior tours are invited.

MASON'S

Carmel Lodge No. 680, F. & A.M., will hold a stated meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. following dinner at 6:30 p.m. All master Masons and sojourners are invited to attend.

Twenty-seven hundred officers and elected delegates, representing the 703 Masonic Lodges of California, will meet in San Francisco 8-12 October for the 113th Annual Communication of the Masonic Grand Lodge of California.

During the five-day assemblage, all major projects of work will be reviewed and business transacted as it affects all Masonic lodges of California and Hawaii. Stock Market Analysis

By John Gates

You may have noticed the rather intense interest lately in the action of the stock market. Some of the news commentary is getting extremely technical in predicting its ups and downs.

Exactly what is the index used, to determine whether the market is up or down?

The most common index is the Dow-Jones average.

Actually, there are three categories in the Dow-Jones average. One is for industrial stocks; one for railroads; and one for utilities. The one most commonly referred to is the industrial average. This consists of the combined prices of the stocks of 30 of the largest and most prominent corporations traded in the United States. They are engaged in a wide range of industry, such as automobiles, food processing, mining, retailing, chemicals, steel, oil, etc. They include such names as General Motors, General Foods, Texaco, U.S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, and DuPont. The combined price of these stocks is computed hourly and at the end of the day.

The same 30 stocks are used all of the time. Over the years, there have been some changes in the corporations that constitute the 30 stocks, but these changes are rare.

It might be pointed out that the average is not simply the sum of the prices of the 30 stocks divided by 30. Originally, that may have been the case. But over a period of time, changes have occurred to make such a computation impractical. Stock splits, or stock dividends, will change the per share relationship of the present price to a previous price. For example, if International Paper were selling at $100 per share, and then split three shares for one, reducing the price to about $33 per share, it would not be right to let the average reflect a two-thirds drop in the price of this company.

Therefore, the people making the Dow-Jones computation have to use a compensating factor in computing the average. They cannot take the sum of the daily quoted prices and divide by 30. The railroad and utility averages, mentioned above, are computed in the same way. There are 20 railroad stocks making up the railroad average. These averages are not so prominently quoted in referring to the market in general, since they represent a more specialized segment of the economy than the 30 industrial corporations.

Because of the size of these industrial corporations, and because their products and activities cover so broad a range, it is generally recognized that the market price of their stocks gives a fairly accurate insight into the status of our economy. It should be noted also, that because of the international character of some of these companies, their prosperity reflects, in some degree, the economic condition of the whole free world.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Overcoming fear will be a theme dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday in a Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality."

Opening the Scriptural selections is this verse from Isaiah: "Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness."

A correlative citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Whatever is governed by God, is never for an instant deprived of the light and might of intelligence and Life" (p. 215).

The Golden Text is from II Timothy: "God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind."

Alison Is Europe Bound

Sunday evening Alison Miller will fly to New York City, the first stage of a nine-month European trip for which she has been planning and saving since early last winter. Before sailing on the S.S. Sylvania ("in the cheapest cabin on the lowest deck") on 12 October, Alison will spend three days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkie in Katonah, New York, and in New York City. (Mrs. Wilkie is a former Carmel Valley resident.) She will also be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Hellman, occasional Carmel visitors, in their Greenwich Village apartment.

Landing in Liverpool 22 October, Alison, a 1962 Carmel High School graduate and the daughter of Mrs. Valentine Miller, will meet her grandmother, Mrs. Alec Miller of Santa Barbara, and visit some of her British relatives before joining forces with her cousin, Charlotte Wilgress. The two girls, who because of English parentage have British as well as American passports, then hope to acquire labor permits and temporary jobs to help finance their travels.

On 1 January, Alison will enroll at the Centro de Estudios de Espanol in Malaga, Spain, where she will live for two months with a Spanish family. In the spring, she and Charlotte will meet again and travel together on the continent, staying for the most part in youth hostels, until Charlotte goes to Africa in late April to meet her brother, Oliver, who will have completed a two-year engineering project with the American Friends Service Committee in Tanganyika.

Alison, whose plans for that time are still undetermined, will remain in Europe long enough to "catch the last boat back to New York before the summer rates start," and next fall hopes to enroll at the University of California at Berkeley.

John Chaffey Wed In England

Mr. and Mrs. John R. E. Chaffey of Pacific Grove report that on 15 September their son, John Taft Chaffey, was married in England to Paula Good, a fellow student at McGill University Medical School, Montreal, Canada.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. P. Jonas, of Pigeon Hill, Lille Bottom, Bedfordshire. Mr. Chaffey flew to England for his son's marriage, a civil ceremony, followed by a garden party at the bride's family's estate.

After a honeymoon in Paris, the young couple returned to their studies at McGill.

John, who has many friends in Carmel, is the brother of Dr. Ben T. Chaffey, assistant resident physician at Wadsworth Veterans Administration Hospital in Los Angeles (on the University of California at Los Angeles medical service); and of Bill Chaffey, an instructor at Desert Sun School, Idyllwild, who has just completed a trip around the world, including two safaris in Kenya, Africa.

To Look At Hostelries Abroad

Willard Neumann, proprietor of Forest Lodge, has been wondering why so many Europeans, visiting Carmel, tell him his cottages remind them of places in Austria, Denmark and other countries abroad. So Mr. Neumann is planning to find out first-hand. He flew to New York last week end, and on Monday sailed on the Queen Mary for a 12-country tour of Europe on a Eurail pass to observe country inns and pensions.

"I'd like to make Forest Lodge appeal even more to European visitors, since we are encouraging European tourists to come to the United States," stated Mr. Neumann before he left Carmel. "I look at it as part of the cultural exchange between countries." He expects to be in Europe for at least two months.

Decks Back From Yosemite

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie C. Deck returned to Carmel on Friday after spending 10 days in Yosemite. "There were still crowds of people, and not many fall colors yet," says Mrs. Deck, "so we're planning to go back again later, and take more slides."

A Yosemite visit is almost a return home for Mrs. Deck, who lived there until she was 18 years old; her father headed transportation operations in the valley in the days of horse-drawn stages.

Entertained Mrs. Nixon

Hostesses assisting Mrs. Rody Holt at the luncheon for Mrs. Richard Nixon at the Monterey County Fairgrounds on Friday were Mrs. E. J. Murray, president of the Carmel Republican Women's Club, Mrs. Sam De Mello, head of the Seaside club, and Mrs. Frank Duran, representing Mrs. Ralph Bennett, president of the Monterey Bay club.

Other committee members were Mrs. Clarissa Mitchell, Mrs. Lawson Little and Mrs. Rollo Payne,

EASTERN STAR HONORS MRS. ROBERT LITTLE

Carmel Chapter No. 581 Order of Eastern Star was hostess chapter for Mrs. Robert Little, Grand Adah of the Grand Chapter State of California on 14 September at a reception at the Sunset Auditorium. More than 500 members and guests gathered to honor her.

The evening was presided over by Mrs. Roy Lewis, Worthy Matron, and George Bloomer, Worthy Patron, of the Carmel Chapter. The theme of the evening was In A Friendship Garden With Bernice. The stage of the auditorium, decorated as a rose garden, was where the grand family and guests were presented.

Mrs. Little is seen, above, addressing the gathering. Seated behind her, left to right, are Mrs. Lewis, George Bloomer and James Millard.

Those who spoke were Mrs. Paul Isberg, Worthy Grand Matron, and Robert C. Atkinson, Worthy Grand Patron, of the Grand Chapter State of California Order of Eastern Star; Mrs. George Bailey, Worthy Grand

Grand Chaplain; Mrs. George Schwach, Grand Marshal; Mrs. Maurine R. Allman, Grand Organist; Mrs. Kay Kidd, Grand Ruth; Mrs. P. C. Parker, Grand Esther; Mrs. Adrienne L. Linde, Grand Martha; Mrs. Lester Nathanson, Grand Electa; Mrs. David Brewer, Grand Warder; and James Craven, Grand Sentinel. Also in attendance was Mrs. Ruth May Friend, Charter Matron of Carmel Chapter.

Mrs. Little was lovely in her gown of jewel trimmed French blue lace over peau-de-soie. She carried white butterfly orchids on a background of royal blue net edged with gold. One of the loveliest events of the evening occurred when Mrs. Little was escorted to the stage by four marshals accompanied by her husband, Robert Little, and their four sons. The marshals were Mrs. John Westover, Mrs. Dorothy Ashley, Mrs. Burleigh Zak and Mrs. Eugene Scheffer. Their gowns were of matching design, two in pale rose and two in blue.

Mrs. Samuel Coleman and Egon Durr acted as hostess and host for the evening.

Following the reception, the guests retired to the Carmel Woman's Club which had been transformed into a garden for the occasion. Here, Mrs. Paul McKinstry, chairman of decorations and refreshments, used table decorations of topiary trees made from the corsages and carrying pieces Mrs. Little had received from chapters she had visited during the year. The trees were greatly admired and at the request of Mrs. Dee Moyer, past Grand Matron, they will be taken to Oakland and used as table decorations at a banquet for Grand Chapter on 13 October.

Co-chairmen for the reception were Carmel Past Matrons and Mrs. Roy Lewis, Matron of Carmel Chapter. Mrs. Kenneth Roberts was chairman for decorations at Sunset Auditorium, Mrs. Norman Fontes, chairman of corsages; Mrs. Samuel Coleman, chairman of programs; and Mr. and Mrs. Paul McKinstry, banquet room.

Rose, his administrative assistant, Hugh Bayless and City Attorney John Morse will serve on the panel.

MR. AND MRS. PETER BOLAND WEISSER

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Boland Weisser are seen, above, after their wedding 22 September at 3 p.m. in St. Joseph's Church in Alameda. The former Nola Jane Lowrey is the daughter of Mrs. Davis Lowrey of Carmel and the late Vance Jefferson Lowrey. Her husband's parents are Dr. and Mrs. John R. Weisser of Babbitt, Nevada.

Monsignor Alvin P. Wagner, pastor of St. Joseph's, performed the double-ring ceremony. Robert Keith Lowrey of San Jose escorted his sister to the altar, which was decorated with white stock and white chrysanthemums.

The bride wore a candlelight satin gown appliqued with sprays of Alencon lace. A wide circlet neckline, bordered in lace, topped the close-fitting bodice, and the shaped skirt, flaring from unpressed side pleats, swept into a full chapel train. Her bouffant veil of candlelight silk illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls and tiny hand-cut crystals. Her bridal bouquet was a formal cascade of butterfly orchids, lilies-of-the-valley and stephanotis.

Jane's matron-of-honor was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Keith Lowrey of San Jose. Her capucine peau jolie frock had a wide circlet neckline and three-quarter sleeves.

Julia Ann Davis of Monterey, a cousin of the bride, was her bridesmaid, and Stacey Souders of Pacific Grove, another cousin, was her junior bridesmaid. Their dresses were similar to the matron-of-honor's and all three carried bronze spider chrysanthemum bouquets. Mrs. Lowrey's distinguished from the others by croton leaves.

The bridegroom's brother, Lawrence Matthew Weisser, was the best man. Michael Lawrence Weisser, Sibley Morrill, Don Felix Eliade and Jack Clark were ushers.

Mrs. Lowrey chose a jade green, silk chiffon gown for her daughter's wedding. It was fashioned with three-quarter length sleeves and a portrait neckline. A many-stranded gold necklace, a hat of gold leaves on veiling, gold bag, jade green shoes, and a corsage of brown cymbidium orchids completed her attire.

The bridegroom's mother wore gold brocade on taupe satin, with taupe shoes and gold accessories. Her hat was of taupe veiling with touches of gold, and she wore an orchid corsage.

A reception at the Hotel Claremont, Berkeley, followed the ceremony. Tropicana roses and tangerine carnations in the autumn hue of the bridal attendants' dresses, and gladioli and stock in bridal white, decorated the buffet tables. Lilies-of-the-valley and yellow-centered white roses crowned the three-tiered wedding cake and cascaded down the sides.

Jane left for her honeymoon in a malt-colored Italian knit suit with a frieze neckline.

The bride is a Carmel High School graduate, and attended Monterey Peninsula College and the University of California at Berkeley. She is a claims authorized in the San Francisco Payment Center of the Social Security Administration.

Her husband, who graduated from the University of California, is doing graduate work in journalism and is also a technical writer with the Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering at the University.

The young couple will make their home in Berkeley.

Council Does Not Horse

(Continued from Page One)ously admitting with candid honesty that they were not quite like Carmel. Unusually discerning, he also found it possible to draw a distinction between Los Angeles—which had turned down a similar tax—and Carmel.

The council, after patient attention, adopted Buffington's amendment, fixing a detailed review of the financial aspects of the tax's effect for March of 1963, and thereafter adopted the amended report.

Nobody victoriously galloped out, but there was a confirmed air that the battle, while joined, was not resolved.

Plancom All Gassed Up

(Continued from Page One) agement for the suggested overlay zone, which could allow gas stations to operate legally under use permits in portions of the business district where they now exist as non-conformances. No gas station should be allowed in C-1-C and C-1-S zones outside the designated overlay area, he also proposed.

Under present zoning, the only part of the business district where gas stations are allowed under a use permit, is the C-2 zone at the northeast corner of the commercial area. Only one of Carmel's ten gas stations is situated in this zone.

Consideration of some zoning tool to legalize the nine non-conforming stations, was undertaken by the commission following a request last month from the Shell Oil Company to reconstruct an existing non-conforming station on two lots at the southeast corner of San Carlos and Fifth, also add a one-lot surface parking facility to the premises.

Under present zoning restrictions, non-conforming gas stations may not be remodeled or reconstructed in such a manner as to increase the cubic contents of buildings on the premises; premises may not be enlarged; new gas stations are not permissible.

The Shell Oil request, therefore, posed a problem to the commission. Although the proposed reconstruction would not enlarge the cubic contents of existing structures, it would by demolishing present buildings and replacing these with new structures, in effect, create a new gas station.

Faced with the possibility of similar requests for reconstruction of buildings which, in the future, may become deteriorated and undesirable, the planning commission undertook exploration of some means to legalize the non-conforming gas stations in C-1-C and C-1-S zones.

Tuesday's adjourned meeting was entirely devoted to this exploration and resulted in the appointment of the committee to study an overlay zone.

Mr. Keeble instructed the committee to give prime consideration to the need for establishing certain use permit restrictions for the location of new service stations in C-1-S and C-2 zones by referring to items contained in a report presented to the commission by Building Inspector Floyd Adams. These items for consideration are:

Relationship to, and distance from the residence district of the location of any gas station.

Relationship of service stations to each other. Should a considerable separation be required, or should grouping be encouraged?

Should certain streets in C-1-S zone only be acceptable for service station use, such as those carrying the greatest traffic load?

Should "light mechanical repairs" be allowed in C-1-C and C-1-S zones in connection with gas station operation?

Should parking garages be permitted in conjunction with service station facilities?

Are gas stations to be allowed to have parking lots?

In respect to the parking garage restriction, Mr. Adams reports states, "It is questionable that surface parking structures would be attractive or acceptable to Carmel. The value of parking structures constructed to a large degree below grade may be considerable. Equally, the value of service station facilities being out of sight within parking structures essentially below grade is desirable."

Mr. Adams also pointed out that, under present zoning restrictions, anyone in the C-1-S and C-2 zones with a vacant lot can completely pave such a lot for parking use with no other control than the requirement of obtaining a driveway permit.

Mr. Keeble promised representatives of the Shell Oil Company, present at Tuesday's meeting, that the 17 October report on the overlay zone study should provide them with some idea as to whether or not they may be able to proceed with plans for their proposed reconstruction.

Council Conflict Over Sand Dunes and Parking

(Continued from Page One) the slides. He was joined in his objection by Mr. Arthur McEwen, a resident of the neighborhood, who claimed that the dunes as they are now are a place for the citizenry to enjoy, and disturbing the sand would deprive them of this pleasure.

Mr. Crawford joined in the consideration, but from altogether different motives. He conceded that certain citizens were, indeed, enjoying the area. But illicitly. He wanted to use the sand to cover the scrub brush and weeds, thus removing an attractive and immoral nuisance. The council, using the handy and convenient pretext of getting the sand back on city land, but mutely skirting the parlous question of immorality, gave Crawford the permission he sought—to move an average depth of two feet of sand from the crest of the flat dune into the shallow swale, all at his own expense.

As of this morning, Whitaker was out of town; no injunction had been sought; Crawford was off to San Francisco to view the opening game of the world series; and the sand, the flowers and the emotions were precisely where they were when the issue was joined.

Junipero Avenue Improvement

It took six years to perfect plans for the improvement of Junipero Avenue from Ocean to Seventh. It may take equally as long to do the same thing for the street from Seventh to Eighth.

As it was before, the issue is a sort of beauty-and-the-beast dichotomy: parking for cars at the expense of landscaping. Councilmen Frank Putnam and James Buffington, Jr., are unalterably opposed to further street improvements in this section which do not provide for parking in the median island of the 100-foot wide thoroughfare. The plans brought in last night envisioned a continuation of the informal and rambling landscaping of trees and shrubs finally realized in the northerly block. Putnam glowered at them, glanced at the cost figures, then announced, "It would be criminal to spend $10,000 on this improvement and not get more parking out of it."

Last night's consideration, which ended with a majority order to City Engineer Clayton Neill to complete the preliminaries so that further study might be had, gave off rumbling portents of a major engagement over a serious and most significant issue when the matter comes up again next month.

Other Matters

The council last night also: Approved a mutual disaster aid agreement with other Peninsula cities encompassing all departments in the event of disaster.

Opposed reapportionment of the California Senate (Proposition 23) at the request of State Senator Fred Farr.

Confirmed the appointment of Hugh Bayless as administrative assistant to the city clerk at a salary of $600 a month.

Employed Virginia Lee Willis as a casual fiscal clerk, salary, 2.38 per hour.

Appointed Assistant City Clerk Arthur M. Plaxton temporary city comptroller, salary, $100 a month; Administrative Clerk Mrs. Billie Postel to be secretary of boards and commissions, salary, $135 a month.

Passed an amendment providing for the new position occupied by Hugh Bayless and Mrs. Postel's

Gave the name Forest Hill Park to the city-owned First and Mission wilderness area.

Authorized the city attorney to study the parking ordinance to discover means to prevent all-day parking on the post office municipal parking lot; also advisability of establishing a tow-away ordinance.

Sent to the U.S. Postmaster approval of a Junipero Serra memorial stamp.
